Nominee Biography

Stephen Metcalfe

Stephen is the Regional Representative for the Lothians and RO for the Breeding Bird Survey (BBS) and Heronries Census. He has been a birdwatcher since childhood, his early interest being boosted by a couple of residential YOC courses. In his late teens/student years he volunteered as an assistant at both Havergate Island and Minsmere reserves.

Although family and work (as a solicitor) responsibilities restricted birding opportunities for many years, since retirement he has taken on two Breeding Bird Survey (BBS) squares and a coastal Wetland Bird Survey (WeBS) section, before becoming RR in late 2019.

He recently became a trustee of the Scottish Wildlife Trust. He is also a member of the RSPB and the SOC, attending the Lothian Discussion Group (which plans and carries out many local surveys) of the latter. Apart from birding, he is a keen amateur musician, cyclist and walker, and has returned to university, currently working towards a (part-time) History degree at the Open University.
