Remember

The completion of the 12 main visits should be the priority, particularly the first 6.

The interval between visits should ideally not be less than six days.

A small number of additional visits are acceptable during the CES season, with visits after the end of the season also being useful. The number of additional visits should not exceed the total number of standard visits though. Visits in early April should be avoided, as should visits up to three days before a main visit.

Extra nets are also permitted, though the total length of extra nets used should not exceed the total length of standard nets.
